It was twenty-eight years ago that school administrators and the citizens of Centralia had the vision to see new educational opportunities for young people by establishing a junior college. The idea took hold, and Centralia pioneered the new type of institution for the State of Washington. Leaders in other cities of the state saw the merits of the junior college movement and eight more schools of this type were established. In 1941 and 1945 actions of the Washington State Legislature made the junior college a part of the public school system with its main source of financial support derived from state funds.

It appears that the junior college is here to stay. The pioneers of Centralia have established a permanent institution. We hope that your training here has helped you to find yourself and to progress a substantial way on the road to attaining your educational goal.

SOPHOMORES

The graduating sophomores of 1953 illustrate how the Centralia Junior College prepares young men and women for advanced study or for entrance into the armed services or into the business world. Seven of the graduates are majoring in education. Five other students will go on to answer the country's need for nurses. Business administration calls to two students, and another is continuing his studies in social science. In the science field there are pre-dental students, a medical student, and a pharmacy major. One graduate plans to study law. Six men will serve Uncle Sam soon, but several of them plan to continue their studies when they return. Another student is interrupting her studies to work in an office next year. Just as the fields of studies here are many and varied, so are the places to which each one will go. Each one of the sophomores has received excellent training here, and all of them have been well-prepared for the great future which they anticipate.

Commencent is an exciting moment, for it means another step has been achieved on the road to great ambitions. Th commencement speakers have worked hard on their speeches. Mary Jane Harmon will speak on liberal arts; Marianne Mellish and Tom Buechel on government and economics; George McCullough on engineering; Bob Lane on medicine; and Bart Bloom on pharmacy.

NIGHT CLASSES ATTRACT HUGE ATTENDANCE

The Junior College was the scene of almost as much activity in the evening as during the day. Housewives, auto mechanics, business men, Junior College and high school students participated in the adult education program. Classes met in the evenings on the college campus, most of them scheduled for ten to twenty sessions a quarter and lasting from one to two hours each. An estimated 350 people were enrolled. Some of the classes, such as auto mechanics and Formenship first aid, were needed by workers in order to complete their apprenticeships.

The classes offered included drivers training, school bus driving, auto mechanics, Spanish, music appreciation, typing, shorthand, accounting, fundamental banking, vocabulary buildings, home carpentry, public speaking, basic grammar, geology, painting (watercolor), elementary electronics, upholstery, slide rule, blueprint reading, fly tieing, Foremanship first aid, and Washington State history. These classes were much enjoyed by all those who attended.

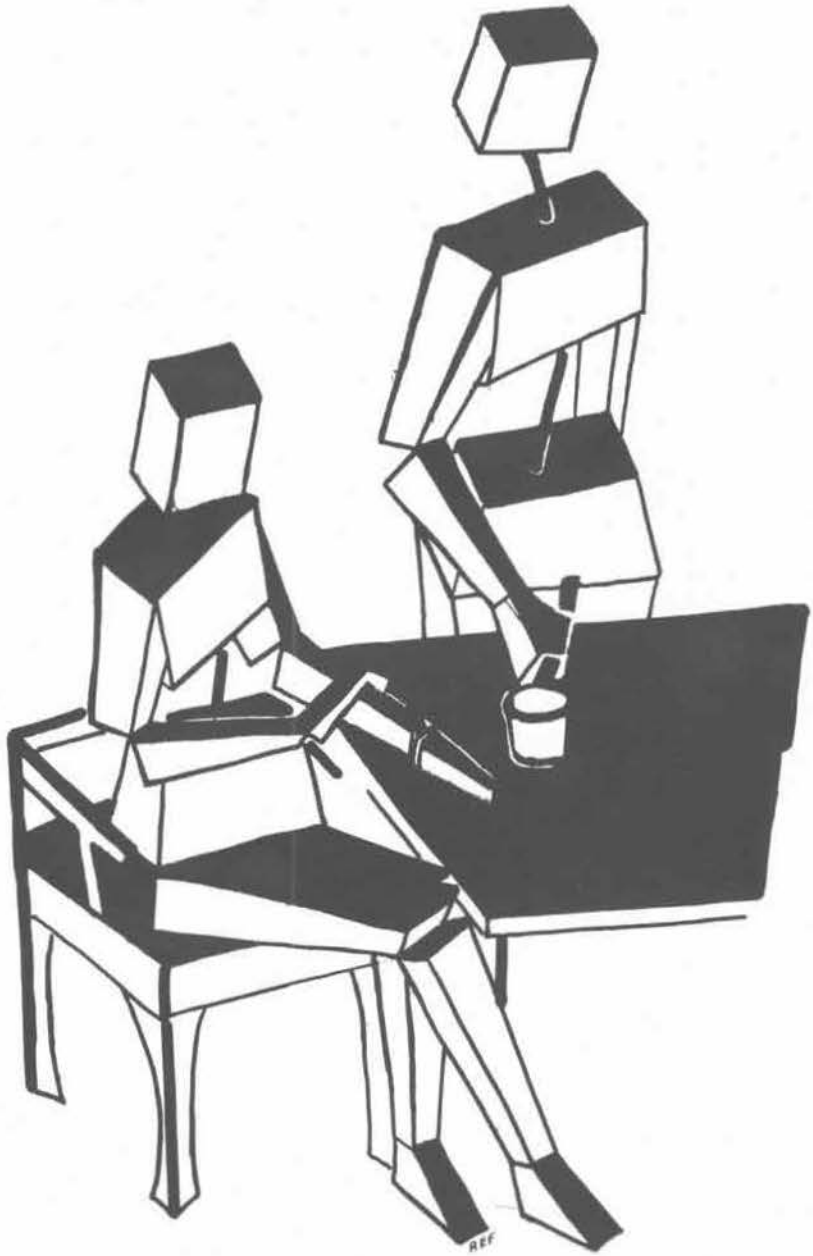
ORGANIZATIONS



CO-ED CLUB

Sitting: Ellen Messinger, president; Mary Jane Harmon, secretary. Standing: Annamarie Faas, treasurer; Clara Standal, vice president. Inset: Miss Kemp, Adviser.

The women's organization of Centralia Junior College began the year by electing officers on September 16. Ellen Messenger and Mary Jane Harmon, both sophomores, were elected president and secretary, respectively. Clara Standal and Annamarie Faas, newcomers to the junior college, won the posts of vice president and treasurer. With these officers the Coed Club anticipated a year of fun and success. As in other years Coeds cooperated in selling candy, hot dogs, and coffee at the football games.

On October 27 a Halloween party was held at Blazer Hall. Phyllis Libby and Peggy Taylor were in charge of decorations. Entertainment was planned by Marianne Mellish, Hazel Harris, Margie Roe, and Mary Jane Harmon. Donna Marth, Elspeth Coutts, Beverlee Miller, and Joe Ann Hendricksen provided refreshments.

The Coed Club won first place in the Homecoming parade. The float depicted a Grays Harbor Choker being kicked over the Blazer goalposts. November 17 the annual Thanksgiving dinner was held at Shamrock Inn. The fifty women attending were entertained by the Blazer Belles and a talk on Christmas in Norway by Unni Lindberg. The program was recorded by Dr. Starr and broadcast later on the college radio program.

In observance of the Christmas season, several boxes of candy were sent by the Coed Club to the State Training School for Girls at Grand Mound.

During January Coed Club members entertained their mothers at a reception in Blazer Hall. Decorations were planned by Kathy Woodford and Peggy Taylor. Invitations were made by Jean Hilts, Beverly Berg, and Arlene Gershick. Refreshments were planned by Mary Jane Harmon, Marianne Mellish, and Hazel Harris. Margie Roe, Marilyn Jorgenson, Noreen Smythe, and Annamarie Faas worked on the clean-up committee.

The traditional Sadie Hawkins Day was held the week of October 24. At this time any college woman could capture her man, who was then obligated to take her to the Hard Times Dance on Saturday.

The year's climax was the Tolo on April 18 with "Festival" as the theme. The decorations committee, headed by Anna Lee Spendiff, used a profusion of balloons and crepe paper streamers to create a festive scene in Blazer Hall where Leo Milanowski's orchestra played. Refreshments were arranged for by Patti Clark. Shirley Housman was in charge of the programs, with Barbara Peyton doing the printing. Intermission entertainment, which included vocal duets by Donna Marth and Frank Moulton, tap dancing by Pat Baldwin, and piano solos by Joe Riley, was arranged by JoAnn Caryl. Donna Marth headed clean-up.

MEN'S CLUB

Sitting: John Pettit; Keith Peterson. Standing: Jim Leggett; Lee Tucker. Inset: Mr. Batie, Adviser.

The Men's Club started off with a bang by electing their officers for the coming year: Jim Leggett, president; Del Allison, vice president; Lee Tucker, secretary; and John Pettit, treasurer. Allison dropped out of school during mid year, and Keith Peterson was elected to fill the vacant office.

The club's first activity was the annual Field Day, which was held October 14, in a vacant lot across from the old Washington Grade School. Games of soccer and football were played in which quite a few of the men suffered sore shins and twisted ankles. When a fire hose was dragged out, about 99 and 44/100% of those there floated off the field.

The next undertaking of the CJC Men's Club was the halftime entertainment at the Homecoming football game between the Blazers and the Grays Harbor Chokers. The club chose Clara Standal as homecoming queen and Phyllis Libby, Joyce Painter, Lois Berg, Doris Burlingame were chosen as the princesses of her court. Jim Leggett crowned and kissed the queen after the royal procession in Model T's.

The roar of gunfire and yells of "Seven come eleven" told passersby that the Men's Club was holding its annual Turkey Shoot December 10 in the high school cafeteria. Best shot of the night was Clyde Kennison, perhaps because he had had plenty of practice shooting at targets in Korea. Mr. Coates taught the boys some mathematics concerning the odds against one if he plays cards, and in doing so won all the money. Jim Leggett had to rely completely on chance for his turkey while Mr. Coates proved a winner when he pulled Jim's number out of a hat for the door prize.

The Hardtimes Dance was the first big activity of the new year of 1953. The decorations were such that even the highest high-brow would sit up and take notice,—bales of straw! The prize winners at the "barn" were Bart Bloom, who was considered the best dressed, derby and all; Beverly Barg had the hardest time as was evidenced by her becoming gunny sack; Dale Jorgenson tried real hard but did not have enough Vigoro to sprout a beard; Shady "Charlie Chan" Lane had the fanciest beard by using a Toni; and Bud Holten came out of the mountains with the longest beard anyone had ever seen, all one inch of it.

May 15 and 16 were the dates of the Men's Club Fishing Derby. Almost everyone that went came back with a load—of fish. While the men were not fishing, they watched some of the doings of the Shelton Forest Festival, swam and loafed. Everyone was glad to have had a liesurely weekend to enjoy the scenery of beautiful Hood Canal.

SERVICE CLUB

No returning members of the previous year wished to join the club; so a completely new membership was formed. In organizing the club, Glenn Beers was elected president; Bill Willis, vice president; and George Greene, secretary-treasurer.

In the fall members sold and received tickets at the football games. Rain or shine they were on the job. With the basketball season they performed their duties in the gym where they sold and took tickets. Here several Coeds lent a helping hand from time to time.

The Club bought letters and presented them to each of its active members. The only source of revenue for the treasury was the Club operated pop machine in the hall which Deane Robinson kept well-filled.

The Club entered a car in the Homecoming Parade decorated with crepe paper and signs advertising the Homecoming game that evening.

As the yearbook went to press, the Club was anticipating a trip of some kind as a climax to the year's events. Expenses for the trip were to be met from the Club treasury.

Future Teachers of America

F.T.A. stands for Future Teachers of America. Dues of two dollars include membership in the Washington State and National Education Associations and magazines published by the associations. The Margaret Corbet Chapter received its fourth gold seal representing years of active membership. The Centralia organization is affiliated with the Washington Education Association. At the first meeting Jean Hilts was elected president; Bill Crowell, vice president; Donna Marth, secretary; and JoAnn Caryl, treasurer. While getting acquainted at a pot-luck dinner, members planned to arrange displays in the show cases in October and November; to make decorations and decorate a large Christmas tree for the JC corridor; to appropriately decorate the bulletin board near the east door for several holidays; and to visit a legislative session in Olympia. Miss Margaret Corbet, former dean of CJC, provides a scholarship which will again be awarded to an active freshman member of F.T.A.

C CLUB

The first meeting of the "C" Club was brought to order February 4. Business of this meeting was to elect officers. Jim Redmon was elected president; "Slim" Countryman, vice president; and John McCormick, secretary-treasurer. Adviser Bob Mikalson outlined membership qualifications of "C" Club as active participation in sports and holding of a CJC letter. The purpose of the club is to band together like-minded men to promote sports activities in the school. The annual "Smoker" and other activities proposed were cancelled due to conflicting jobs and schedules. Because many athletic activities sponsored by the ASB were in progress and most "C" wearers were already active in these events no need was felt for active "C" Club sponsorship.

SKI CLUB

Being comparatively close to the Cascade mountains has its advantages for eleven CJC students. When the winter snows come, they don smiles and warm clothes, pack their skis on cars, and head for one of the various ski spots in Western Washington and Oregon. This year's group, headed by president Roger Davis, consisted of Frank Moulton, Baldy Oliphant, Dave Greene, Patti Clark, Joyce Painter, Pat Millman, Skip Baggett, Donna Marth, Elspeth Coutts, and Unni Lindberg. Their activities were hampered somewhat by a comparatively snowless winter and only four official trips were taken by the JC club. The first part of January found Frank, Baldy, Dave, Roger, and Patti going to Mt. Hood. Later, Baldy, Dave, Roger, Joyce, and Unni journeyed to Mt. Rainier for a day of skiing. Two more trips were taken in February. Chinook Pass was the destination of Dave, Baldy, and Roger, and White Pass was the scene of some ski fun enjoyed by Dave, Baldy, Roger, Skip, Donna, Pat, and Elspeth.

ACTIVITIES

JAY SEER

This is the first year that Centralia Junior College has published a commercially printed monthly paper. With the help of Jess Burdeau of the Daily Chronicle, the staff learned the procedures of making lay-outs, dummies, and paste-ups. In the mimeographed papers of previous years a conversational style of writing was used, but this year a journalistic style was adopted. One exception, however, was Patti Clark's feature column, Yakity-Yak, which was enjoyed by all the students. Another feature was the Laurel Wreath box which gave recognition to students or groups for service activities. Junior colleges and near by high schools were on the Jay Seer mailing list.

Mrs. Lucille Johnson advised editor-in-chief Kathy Woodford and assistant editors Annamarie Faas and Noreen Smythe. Reporters were Don Greenland, Skip Baggett, and Alden Warman. Typists included Pat Morton, Bill Crowell, Pat Baldwin, Joyce Painter, Beverlee Miller, Leslie Mohoric, and Merv Harris.

TRAILBLAZER

From January into May the Trailblazer staff steadily increased its pace as it organized picture taking, planned a dummy, mounted and prepared copy for the engraver, and finally by working fast and furiously met printers' deadlines.

This year there was an unusually small staff, so many student volunteers were recruited to help in writing and typing copy, and in selling ads. Most of the staff members had had no previous experience working on yearbooks, but by the end of May they had all been introduced to typical "rushes" of picture and copy deadlines.

The staff photographers covered all the college events, working particularly hard in March and April to meet the engraver's deadline.

A sales campaign was begun early in the second quarter after the Associated Student Body voted almost unanimously in favor of an engraved annual. The advertising campaign, started in March, was successfully concluded the first week in May.

THE LATE CHRISTOPHER BEAN

Being the center of attention and hearing laughter and applause from a pleased audience were the rewards of those who participated in the annual JC play. Directed by Miss Leigh, the cast presented THE LATE CHRISTOPHER BEAN on February 13, 1953.

All agreed that they had fun producing this delightfully mysterious play of Broadway fame. By way of celebrating the success of the production, cast and director later attended a performance of DETECTIVE STORY at the Showboat Theater in Seattle.

Because of conflicting class schedules, the chorus this year was limited to girls only. The first project of the new chorus was the recording of the Alma Mater to be used on the JC radio program. A Christmas program was presented for the Rotary Club. Under the direction of Dr. Kintzer, the chorus played an active part in the Blazer Blackouts, and climaxed the year by singing at graduation.

A Girls' Trio and Quartet were formed to sing at dinners and club meetings in the area. Later in the year Donna Marth and Frank Moulton formed a duet.

C. J. C. ON THE AIR

The 1952-53 college year saw an interesting activity for Centralia Junior College students re-activated. "Blazers On The Air," a weekly fifteen-minute program, was presented over KELA, which serves the people of Southwest Washington. Students and faculty members co-operated with Dean Starr who was the program co-ordinator. During the year sports, plays, activities, and colorful happenings on the college campus were covered. Programs included interviews with students who were enrolled in the Adult Educational and Vocational Classes, interviews with CJC students by a roving reporter, interviews with members of the CJC faculty and with interesting visitors including members of a group of foreign students on their annual tour of Western Washington. Also featured on several of the programs were selections presented by the Junior College music department under the direction of Dr. Kintzer. The student announcer for the year was Bill Mudge.

FOREIGN STUDENTS MAKE ANNUAL VISIT

Thirty-one students attending the University of Washington and Seattle Pacific College and representing a number of foreign countries visited Centralia on March 25. They arrived in the morning to visit CJC classes and were later the guests of CJC students at a luncheon in the cafeteria. Afterwards the visiting students gave a performance at the Girls' Training School. Some also visited the Boys' School in Chehalis.

The Business and Professional Women's Club sponsored a banquet in their honor which was held at the Presbyterian Church. Pat Millman entertained with two songs, and the visiting students completed the program with songs in the native tongue and talks on their countries.

Student Body President Matt Rinaldi welcomes a large group of foreign students to CJC. Lower: Hosts and guests having lunch in the High School Cafeteria.

BLAZER BLACKOUTS VARIETY SHOW

The 1953 edition of Blazer Blackouts was presented April 9 and 10. Jerry Robinson, local businessman and CJC grad, was master of ceremonies for the fifteen act show which included talent from out of town in addition to the student acts. The music included selections from "South Pacific" and "Oklahoma." The proceeds from the show went into a fund for a concert piano for the music department.

Homecoming activities included a serpentine through town and a huge bonfire at the JC campus on October 23. On Friday a caravan of floats and gaily decorated cars traveled through the Twin Cities to advertise the game with Grays Harbor.

The coronation of the Homecoming Queen and the introduction of the royal court took place at the half. Queen Clara Standal was introduced by ASB President Matt Rinaldi during the intermission of the Homecoming Dance at the Armory.

PEP STAFF

The pep staff was backing the team throughout the seasons in an attempt to cheer them on to victory. Pep "pills" were distributed by the pep staff to the students the day before a basketball game. The song staff visited various lodges and organizations in an attempt to get the townspeople to attend the games.

Among the pep assemblies planned by the staff was one in which faculty members participated in an "operation." Highlight for the pep staff was the hard times evening. The staff, along with everyone else, was dressed for the occasion.

FOOTBALL

The Blazers started off the season by tieing Wenatchee 0 to 0 before a home crowd. The following week they traveled to Everett, only to lose 54 to 6. Coming back to Centralia, the Blazers bowed to a powerful Olympia team 52 to 0. After these two losses, the home team bounced back to defeat the Clark Penquins 14 to 0 on Noble Field. The Homecoming celebration was marred by a 13 to 0 set-back by Grays Harbor. October 31 found the Blazers invading Eastern Oregon College of Education, but losing by a heart-breaking 14 to 13 score. The following game at Yakima resulted in a 13 to 0 loss for the Blazers. The final game of the season was with Longview, which saw the Red Devils hand Centralia a 19 to 0 defeat. Jim Leggett received the Inspirational Award at the annual banquet.

BASEBALL

After several practice games with St. Martin's College, Napavine, Oakville, and Winlock, the Trailblazers journeyed to Longview to Play Lower Columbia on April 10. For the first game of the double header the pitcher was Darrell Wehrwein with Jack Pollman doing the catching. The Trailblazers won 5 to 3. In the second game Larry Henthorn did the hurling with Pollman catching. The Blazers won 7 to 1.

On May 2 the Trailblazers played Clark at Vancouver. Hurler Henthorn was rapped for seven runs with the Blazers losing 7 to 0. In the second game, Wehrwein gave up five runs before the game was called at the end of five innings because of rain. The Blazers trailed 5 to 2.

On May 8 the Clark team played host to the Blazers and won 8 to 2 and 4 to 1. Hurler for the first game was Wehrwein and for the second, Henthorn.

The last league game on May 12 was with Lower Columbia at Centralia. Wehrwein was relieved by Dwight Cook in the 3rd inning of the first game and the Blazers won 12 to 11. With Henthorn hurling the second game, the Blazers trounced the Lower Columbians 14 to 1.

TABLE TENNIS

The end of the football season found sports activities moving indoors. Under the leadership of Mr. Coates, table tennis enthusiasts participated in a tournament at Blazer Hall. After several weeks of competition, John Karvia emerged the champion. Skip Baggett placed second and Jack Marshall nabbed the third spot.

WEIGHT EVENTS

In the field of track Ron Breckel was Centralia Junior College's lone representative. Participating in a meet in Yakima, Ron threw the discus a distance of 128 feet. In the shot put he also went for distance, tossing the iron ball 39 feet 3 inches. These marks scored by Breckel set a new state record.

GOLF

The golf team of CJC has won two, tied one, and lost three matches. Two losses were to CPS, 12-3 and 10-5; the other to Olympic JC, 9-6. The two wins were over Clark JC, 15-0 and Lower Columbia JC, 11-4; the tie was with Olympic JC. The team members were Art Perry, Gary Ely, Gordon Bill, Dean Browning, John Deichman, and Roger Davis.

OTHER SPORTS

Many students participated in the bowling tournament sponsored by the college. Bowling three consecutive nights, "Marshall's Mellons" proved too much for the "Fearless Faculty," "Perry's Punks" and Baggett's Pin Busters." Individual high game honors went to Bob Berry with a score of 505. High score for the women was Ellen Messenger's 389.

HERE AND THERE

Quality Shoes For All The Family

Surveys show that college students spend a goodly sum of money in the community where the college is located. Local merchants recognize this when they place ads in the CJC yearbook asking students for patronage.

Graduates from many high schools attended CJC this year. Among the school represented were Adna, Boisfort, Castle Rock, Centralia, Chehalis, Eatonville, Lebam, Morton, Mossyrock, Papavine, Oakville, Onalaska, Olympia, Pe Ell, Rainier, Rochester, Shelton, Toledo, Vail, Valley, Winlock, and Yelm.

Over 600 seniors graduating from high schools in the area served by Centralia Junior College have received information about college offerings for 1953-54.
